NEM & Data Protection Declaration

<https://nem-initiative.org/data-protection-declaration/>

The screenshot shows the top of the NEM website. The header includes the NEM logo (New European Media) on the left, a navigation menu with links for HOME, ABOUT NEM, NEM SUMMIT, DOCUMENTS, NEWS & EVENTS, and CONTACT on the right, and social media icons for Facebook, LinkedIn, and Twitter. The main heading is "Data Protection Declaration". Below the heading is a breadcrumb trail: "HOME / DATA PROTECTION DECLARATION". The main content area contains several paragraphs of text explaining the organization's commitment to data protection, its compliance with the EU GDPR and German BDSG, and its policies on data collection and processing. It also includes a section titled "1. Definitions" which explains the meaning of "personal data" as information relating to an identifiable natural person.

Data protection is a high priority for the management of NEM Initiative. Thus, as documented in this data protection declaration, we are committed to full compliance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the German Federal Data Protection Act (Bundesdatenschutzgesetz – BDSG) as well as any other relevant legislation.

The use of this website and its Internet pages, as well as any other Internet pages linked to this website which are controlled by NEM Initiative, is possible without any indication of personal data. However, if a data subject would like to use special services via our website, processing of personal data could become necessary. If the processing of personal data is required and there is no statutory basis for such processing, we will by default endeavour to obtain consent from the data subject.

The processing of personal data, such as name, address, e-mail address, or telephone number of a data subject shall always be in line with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), and in accordance with German and other country-specific data protection regulations applicable to NEM Initiative. Through this data protection declaration, we would like to inform anyone concerned and the general public of the nature, scope, and purpose of the personal data we collect, use and process. Furthermore, data subjects are informed, by means of this data protection declaration, of the rights to which they are entitled.

As the controller, NEM Initiative has implemented numerous technical and organizational measures to ensure comprehensive protection of personal data processed through this website. However, Internet-based data transmissions may generally have security gaps. Thus, absolute protection cannot be guaranteed. For this reason, every data subject is free to transfer personal data to us via alternative means, e.g. by telephone or letter.

1. Definitions

The data protection declaration of NEM Initiative GmbH is based on the terms used by the European legislator for the adoption of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Our data protection declaration should be legible and understandable for the general public, as well as our customers and business partners. To ensure this, we would like to first explain the terminology used.

In this data protection declaration, we use, inter alia, the following terms:

a) Personal data

Personal data means any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person ("data subject"). An identifiable natural person is someone who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier, or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person.

NEM contribution to the DSM Strategy
- Approved by NEM Steering Board in spring 2016 -

The Digital Single Market Strategy issued by the European Commission touches upon a number of topics and areas of high relevance for the members of NEM and it addresses several topics related to the trends and priorities identified in the latest NEM Vision DMA.

NEM identifies user, business and technology trends in the field of converging media and content in order to accelerate technological innovation and increase growth in the content and creative industries in Europe. NEM thus shares seven objectives of the DSM Strategy and its members can contribute to several of the expected achievements, such as building trust and confidence online, boosting digital skills and learning, enhancing connectivity and access to digital content, simplifying e-commerce, supporting research and innovation.

Better online access to digital goods and services

NEM fully shares this objective and has highlighted a number of R&I areas that can contribute to it in the coming years, by enhancing access to creative content and breaking down barriers to cross-border e-commerce. The NEM Vision DMA highlights the current and potential developments in digital content production (social, interactivity and immersion, multimedia storytelling), content personalisation and recommendation, content processing (cloud, virtual and augmented reality, metadata) to increase acquisition in discovery and location of content, content search and discoverability, big data analytics, securing content and universal access

TOWARDS THE FUTURE SOCIAL MEDIA

NEM White Paper
December 2017

Preface

What is and how will the future social media look, how we are going to get there, and what has to be done to enable it? Probably the largest research and innovation community in the area of media and content in Europe organised within the NEM (New European Media) Initiative answers these questions within a coordinated action among the community members. This activity is supported by the Vital Media project of the Horizon 2020 EU research and innovation programme.

This White Paper presents an initial vision on the future social media, based on inputs received from a broad range of media and content actor representatives in Europe (from the NEM Initiative), aiming to identify the next steps towards the future social media, including required research and innovation activities to achieve defined goals, as well as related standardisation, regulatory, and policy actions - underpinned with a European approach. It provides a base for further elaboration of selected aspects of social media, which will be detailed in due course throughout 2018. Feedback was also gathered at the NEM Summit 2017 - the 10th edition of NEM's annual conference and exhibition - held in Madrid, Spain, on 20/26 November; from the Summit presentations, invited and key-note talks, as well as open discussions.

Dear NEM members, dear readers,

The New European Media initiative, the Horizon 2020 European Technology Platform dedicated to content is wishing you a year of innovation, a year of innovative projects, a year of fruitful businesses...

A year towards building our future... Once again, our NEM community is in the sector where to be to size all the opportunities in this wonderful content world dealing with Connected, Converging and Interactive Media & Creative Industries and as our motto says, 'driving the future of digital experience'. New network technologies such as the upcoming 5G or the deployment of the Fiber to the Home, new video & display technologies such as High Dynamic Range, High Frequency Rate, are great opportunities to widely access to a more immersive content on the movie and make the user/consumer part of the game.

A year towards enlarging and engaging our community... Thanks to the VitaMedia project, we have some additional opportunities to embark you in this content journey through the creation of a new NEM platform (<http://vitalmedia.com/en/10>) I invite you to use the position papers we intend to produce (e.g. Content distribution vs SO, Media analytics vs Big Data, Challenges for Creative Industries), the dialogue among research and innovation community and policy makers we want to build, the workshops, general assemblies and summit we will organized again this year.

Before entering to this new year, we are sharing through this NEM Newsletter some key moments of our last NEM summit edition.

Be active in NEM, get fun from NEM, contribute to NEM and enjoy 2017!

NEM Newsletter 2017 #2

Edito - Jean Dominique Meunier, Technicolor (NEM Chairman)

Dear NEM members, dear readers,

During this first semester, we hold our 27th General Assembly in Brussels. A summary is given in this newsletter below.

During those last months, we worked out to prepare your 10th NEM summit planned on 29-30 November 2017 in Madrid at the Museo Reina Sofia, the place where you can enjoy the discovery of Guernica. I do hope that you took the opportunity to answer to our position paper calls.

During those weeks, we organized several events towards our local, regional or national community: the Futur en Seine event in Paris on 8 June, the Open Innovation Camp in Nantes on July 4th.

We were working out also the first inputs to those position papers. Do not hesitate to contribute to them as well.

We were paving the ways to get a Digital Innovation Hub dedicated to content and well as a Next Generation Internet topic on Media & Creative Industries.

Before entering to this post summer period, we are inviting you to get deeper elements on above topics in the following pages and I invite you to discover our new web site at www.nem-initiative.org.

Counting on our contribution and involvement towards the NEM community driving the future of digital experiences, and counting on your registration to our NEM summit 2017 edition, I wish you a fruitful and relaxing summer time.

DRIVING THE FUTURE OF DIGITAL EXPERIENCE

Editorial from Jean-Dominique Meunier, NEM President

Dear NEM members, dear future NEM members,

2017 will be again a challenging year for our sector. New content and new paradigms are pushing established businesses for an opening, new opportunities and a questioning the current regulations. Users and consumers are searching for better personal data, to the way they are treated and to the ways they are served. They hope to produce content to distribute content. In several cases are more than emerging are already in efforts for the benefit of the consumer. Of the others, all that happens should be innovative, create the involvement of media technologies, and are used to purchase. Europe, the Americas, the other continents are looking for content towards more interactivity, more interactivity, more safety. The NEM community represents an obligation to lead the content sector combined an strategic perspective to which to create an eye to the content needed content infrastructure, the need to avoid having the most powerful digital infrastructure in Europe to enable only content from other regions of the world. The NEM community is expecting to find the next Research Framework Program and do hope to see specific initiatives for the development of new technologies for future proof content.

In front of these challenges, we need to pursue making the potentials of our sector towards growth and employment. We will be pursuing that by being an updated NEM forum, by working on an updated Strategy and Research agenda, by offering position papers and white papers, by the way of promoting our understanding our new General Assembly and NEM summit.

I do count on all of you to be an active and contributing NEM member to take up these challenges and drive the future of digital experience.

I do also encourage you to take a look on the content of the NEM newsletter on our last NEM summit 'Innovation by Smart Content' on our next General Assembly which is planned May 30th in Brussels, on our last position papers on our last news on dedicated projects and events.

Enjoy and share it!

See you soon,
Sincerely,
Jean-Dominique Meunier

NEM Summit 2017 - What you have missed

The 10th Edition of the NEM Summit took place on the 29th - 30th of November in Madrid. It gathered more than 150 participants from 19 countries. The NEM Summit 2017 was located on the lovely museum area of the Museo Reina Sofia.

The summit addressed many of topics that are related to the Smart Content by Smart Content. Some of these topics are research and business challenges, technical and open research involving connectivity, big data, analytics, requirements for content creation and media convergence, and the regulation and standardization challenges.

The program of the Summit consisted of keynote presentations and invited talks, an exhibition focused on presentation of research results in the NEM area followed by network programs and organizations, Workshops and Technical Sessions Tracks in a special session on Social Media and an event on Smart Content Media and OTT for Creative Industries.

The closure of the NEM Summit 2017 came with the announcement of the NEM Next Edition. In total there were three different aspects to be given.
